Tools

- The large cast iron skillet
- Whisk (if using bowl)
- Spatula
- Two serving bowls
- Food thermometer (optional)
- Serving plate, cutting board, or hiking board
- Bowl (optional)

 Eggs and raw meat need to be kept below 40°F in order to not go bad. They are covered in harmful germs, and the cold stops the germs from growing quickly. Make sure to put the eggs and bacon right next to ice in the cooler to help keep them safe to eat.
